DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-28, drawn to a mold for the manufacture of an endovascular graft, classified in class 425, subclass 522.
- II. Claims 29-36 and 74, drawn to a pressure line, classified in class 138, subclass 118+.
- II. Claims 37-48, drawn to a mandrel for shape forming a graft, classified in class 264, subclass 239+.
- IV. Claims 49-55 and 72, 73, and 75, drawn to an assembly for the manufacture of an endovascular graft, classified in class 425, subclass 535.
- V. Claims 56-71 and 76-78, drawn to a method of forming a channel, classified in class 264, subclass 573.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I, II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as a separate mold for manufacturing molded articles. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as a pressure line in any kind of manufacturing operation. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as a mandrel for shape forming any molded object. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Art Unit: 1732

Inventions IV and I, II, and III are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because it does not require only at least one other mold body portion to mate with a plurality of mold body portions (I), it does not require a permeable section (II), and it does not require a mandrel having a middle section, a first end section, and a second end section (III). See above for separate utilities of the subcombinations.

Inventions V and I, II, and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus, such as one that does not require only at least one other mold body portion to mate with a plurality of mold body portions (I), a permeable section (II), or a mandrel having a middle section, a first end section, and a second end section (III).

Inventions V and IV are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus, such as one that does not require a mandrel.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
